

Summer 2021 Archaeological Field School and Lab Course

(June 1-19 and July 19-August 6, 2021)

Nathan “Nate” Harrison Site, Palomar Mountain, San Diego County, CA
and SDSU campus (HAMR Lab-Hardy Tower 70)

Professor Seth Mallios

*Admission to this archaeological field program is competitive and restricted.
You must apply and be accepted to get the add codes from Dr. Mallios.*

If you are interested in this archaeological field program, check ONE of the following two boxes only:

- ANTH 312 and 561 (First-time undergraduates; 6 credits total)

The field class (312) is June 1-19 and requires living on Palomar Mountain Monday-Friday (and the last Saturday). You will receive 3 credits for this course. The lab class (561) is July 19-August 6 (Monday-Friday, 8am-4:30pm) in SDSU’s HAMR Lab (HT70). You will receive an additional 3 credits for this course.

- ANTH 560 and 561 (Returning undergraduates and graduate students; 6 credits total)

The field class (560) is June 1-19 and requires living on Palomar Mountain Monday-Friday (and the last Saturday). You will receive 3 credits for this course. The lab class (561) is July 19-August 6 (Monday-Friday, 8am-4:30pm) in SDSU’s HAMR Lab (HT70). You will receive an additional 3 credits for this course.

Name: _____ Red ID#: _____
Telephone: (     ) _____ E-mail: _____

■ With this completed application form, also include a one-page statement of personal and professional reasons for wanting to participate in the class. Turn in these materials to Dr. Mallios at <smallios@sdsu.edu>. You will also need a letter of recommendation that addresses your ability to work well with others and complete challenging work sent directly to Dr. Mallios at <smallios@sdsu.edu>. Students who have joined Dr. Mallios on the Nathan “Nate” Harrison Historical Archaeology Project in previous field seasons need only fill out and submit this form.

■ Food and lodging are free for students; the only costs are SDSU summer school tuition and fees. Interested participants from outside of SDSU can apply and enroll through SDSU Global Campus.

■ Review of applications begins March 1, 2021. There are limited spots in this program so apply early. Notification of acceptance will occur in March of 2021.

■ To learn more about Nathan Harrison, the region’s first African-American homesteader, and the Nathan “Nate” Harrison Historical Archaeology Project, visit: <nathanharrison.sdsu.edu> or contact Dr. Mallios directly at <smallios@sdsu.edu>.